NO HOPE FOR BOOTH

A Motion for Rehearing Denied by the Supreme Court.

The supreme court concluded a two days' session yesterday afternoon, adjourning to September 27. It was announced from the bench that on that day no decisions would be handed down but perhaps there would be some on the following day.

Not much of interest was disposed of though there was one case of the highest interest to one man and his relatives. That was the case on Zach Booth, above whose head the noose swings hungrily. The day before Col. E. J. Edwards, his attorney, made an unusual request—that he be permitted to argue a motion for a rehearing. That is seldom done and had never been done under the rules of the court. But by reason of the fact that capital punishment is involved in this case the rules were set aside and the request was granted.

The principal ground on which the motion was based was that the trial court had erred in a ruling regarding challenges. Booth and his brother,

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW WHAT AILS YOU

the U. S. mail will bring you the best medical advice for only the cost of writing materials and stamps.

Many people owe their present good health to the fact that they consulted Dr. Pierce by letter, giving him all possible information about their condition, symptoms, etc., and received in return good medical advice which cost them nothing. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce by no means confines himself to prescribing his well-known medicines. He tells you in the most common-sense way what ails you, what you ought to do, what line of treatment should be followed out in your particular case, and if your case does not indicate the need for this proprietary medicine, he tells you plainly and frankly what you do need, and the best possible method of improving your health.

Dr. Pierce treats many chronic cases at a distance, through the mail and all you have to do is to write him your symptoms.

"During my two years of married life I have not had good health," writes Mrs. Daisy Stoddard, of 608 N. Esplanade Avenue, Leavenworth, Kans. "I was all run-down, and my husband got me to write to Dr. Pierce. I got an early reply telling me what the trouble was. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and now can say that I feel like a new woman. I do all my work and do not feel tired out like I used to. I have taken eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription.' It makes one feel well and strong."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure dizziness and sick headache.

WORMS

"I write to let you know how I appreciate your Cascarets. I commenced taking them last November and took two ten cent boxes and passed a tapeworm 14 ft. long. Then I commenced taking them again and yesterday, April 14th, I passed another tapeworm 28 ft. long and over a thousand small worms. Previous to my taking Cascarets I didn't know I had a tape-worm. I always had a small appetite."

SHORTHAND'S PERILS.

Senator Perry of Arkansas, was talking about shorthand. He praised it highly. Then he said:

"The best shorthand writer I ever knew worked for the State of Arkansas during my terms as governor."

"This young man told me one day, some stories of the difficulties of short hand."

"He said that when he was 18 he worked for an important newspaper. He was a beginner at shorthand then. He often found it difficult to read his own notes."

Then he reported, one night, a half hour's installment of a great orator's speech. It was well on to midnight when he got back to the office, and he sat down to a typewriter to transcribe his notes in longhand as quickly as possible. He worked away steadily.

"One sentence in the middle of a long paragraph he could not decipher. He struggled with the sentence, quite at a standstill, several minutes. The city editor called him to make haste. He turned to an expert short hand writer on his left and said:

"Can you read this sentence here? For the life of me, I can't."

The expert studied the sentence, then shook his head.

"No," he said, "I can't read it. Just put in 'Great applause,' and let it go at that."

"So the young man put in 'great applause,' and the next morning, when he read the speech in the paper, he found, to his horror, that he had made his section run:

"I will detain you but a few minutes longer, my friends. (Great applause.)"

SHE WAS NOT BEAUTIFUL.

"At the Whistler exhibition in London," said a tourist, "I had a chat with Joseph Pennell, the well-known artist. Pennell had spent his boyhood in Germantown with me, and so we talked of our old Germantown friends. We talked of a boy who had become an artist and married a rich woman. Pennell said that this chap was not altogether happy. He said he would tell me a story about him that would reveal subtly, in a Henry James manner, the cause of his unhappiness.

"A stranger visited the man's studio one day, and paused, full of wonder, before a life-size, full-length picture of a woman in a white Greek dress.

"Is this," said the stranger in a tone of amazement, "your ideal?"

"No," the artist answered, "it's my wife."

THE GOLDEN RULE.

If the world's a wilderness,
Go build houses in it.
Will it help your loneliness
On the winds to dim it?
Raise a hut, however slight,
Weeds and brambles smother;
And to roof and meal invite
Some forlorn brother.
